“DIVING DEEPER INTO GENETIC GENEALOGY”

Presented by: Melissa Johnson

Learn more than the basics about DNA testing and how it can be useful to supplement the traditional paper trail for genealogical research. Discover more about using the testing companies' websites to analyze and compare test results, how to use third party tools for analysis, and how to develop targeted testing plans to solve genealogical brick walls.

Melissa Johnson, CG: Melissa, is a descendant of many of New Jersey's first settlers, including those from Newark and Elizabethtown. She became interested in genealogy when she was about nine years old after her Johnson grandfather showed an interest.

Melissa is a graduate of Susquehanna University who has worked in public and government relations, the lifelong New Jersey resident said she sought certification for many reasons. More than anything else, she said. "I wanted to know that I was working to standards."
